Mrs. Lucy Wernwag Dead.

Mrs. Lucy Wernwag died Tuesday morning about four o'clock at her home on College street. She had been in her usual good health until a few weeks ago, when she was taken ill. The attack was so virulent that her life was despaired of almost at the first. Everything was done that medical skill and nursing could do, but these were of little avail.

Mrs. Wernwag, whose maiden name was Lucy Ann Thompson, was born in Shelby county, Kentucky, March 11, 1844. On May 3, 1866, she was married to John W. Wernwag, who died August 23, 1892.

Mrs. Wernwag had been a member of the Christian church since early girlhood. Her kindly manner endeared her to everyone who knew her. She lived consistently and always had a word of comfort and cheer for those who were less fortunate than she. Her two surviving sons, William and John, were constantly with her, giving of their love and strength, that she might carry with her the greatest comfort of a mother's heart—the sacrificing love of her children.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Christian church. Rev. S. Boyd White, assisted by Dr. Z. M. Williams, conducted the services.

Miss Elizabeth Edwards left for Chicago Monday evening for a few weeks' visit. Miss Mary Lillian Atkinson and Miss Rebecca Crosswhite accompanied her as far as Higginsville.

Misses May and Aliee Peak went to Kansas City Tuesday for a few days' visit.

Judge Zach W. Wright and C. L. Glascock went to Oak Grove Tuesday on business.

Wentworth 36; Medics 0.

The Kansas City Medics, after they held Warrensburg to 7 points, concluded they were some punkins at the game, known here as football. But, they can be excused on the ground that many other teams have come here with the same mistaken idea. The Medics had everything but training and coaching. The individual members of the team were alright—big husky fellows everyone of them. The game, however, was new to them, and the cadets went where and when they pleased. In the final period only two regulars remained on the cadet team.

The cadets in their next game, the Washburn Seconds, this afternoon, will undoubtedly encounter some opposition. This game ought to be a hummer. Come out and see it.

Miss Jennings' Recital.

Miss Jennings gave a song recital Tuesday night at Wright's Grand Opera House that will long be remembered as one of the most pleasing ever given in this city. Miss Jennings' voice, a mezzo-soprano, is one of rare sweetness and flexibility and admirably fitted for the program she presented. Every number was a delight, and especially so were the "Gavotte" by Thomas, and "When the Roses Bloom" by Reichardt.

A pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment was the accompanying of Miss Clara Blakslie.

Miss Maud Graham left Tuesday for a visit in Topeka, Kansas.

C. L. Ristine went to Joplin, Mo., Monday evening for a few days' visit.

Oswald Winkler spent Tuesday in Higginsville.

A Great Coat and Suit Season

THIS has been our greatest Coat and Suit Season. With few exceptions every day has been a busy one in this department for the past two months. Ordinarily this would mean a broken stock—the choicest ones sold and a case of take what is left—but not so this season. We anticipated just such a business as we are having and as a matter of course prepared for it. Four weeks ago we gave a second order which was almost as large as our original purchase. These goods are arriving daily and embrace many new style ideas. In short, ladies who have delayed buying a coat or suit will find selecting at this time as easy and satisfactory as at the beginning of the season.

We further call your attention to the fact that we have nine other departments full of the seasons best things. Also, that you will find little indication of advanced prices in any of them. We are anxious for you to visit our store for your winter needs.

P. S. We are opening and arranging the largest stock of Xmas goods we have ever attempted. You can do your Xmas shopping right now if you prefer.
